羅府新報 編集記者
長井智子

米国の日本人の歴史とともに歩み、今年で創刊 120 周年を迎える羅府新報は、日系米国人と日本人のコミュニティに貢献する日刊紙です。英語と日本語のバイリンガル新聞で現在週に 3 日発行されています。

編集部はロサンゼルスの小東京にあります。

新型コロナをきっかけとしたアジア人ヘイトなど、コロナ禍は、この国の人種差別や偏見が過去のものではないことを浮き彫りにしました。戦時中に米国籍でありながら日系人であるという理由で戦時移転キャンプに送られた人々の経験は、残念ながら今でもにがい教訓です。

私自身も、当新聞社に勤務するまでは、日系人についてあまり知りませんでした。

日本人から一歩踏み出して日系人として米国で生きようとした時に、あるいは、米国生まれの子どもたちのアイデンティティを考えた時に、日本人でも米国人でもない、日系人のコミュニティということになるのではないかと思います。

LBCC has also contributed to the Japanese American community in Long Beach as a base for learning Japanese language and Japanese culture. Due to the proximity of Teriyaki Island, which encompasses a large area of the beach, LBCC will continue to do so for a while.

In the midst of so much uncertainty, the grant approved brought some brightness to LBCC.

The JLG funds are individually generated by the Education and Cultural Committee every year, rather than being allocated by JJA. The committee organizes an annual charity golf event, and the committee members are enthusiastic about their mission. The funds raised through the golf tournament are providing educational support to the local community.

2000 was a life changer with a purpose no one ever imagined. The committee would discuss how they could support the community and each other. However," said Sayo Kaseki, 2000 president of the committee, "simply to sit and discuss the school being closed and all the events canceled, race, class, moral issues popped up. We received many applications as we normally received in other years. We were deeply impacted by the educators and teachers who continue to provide learning opportunities for students. It was a very encouraging year for us."

In Mesa on Friday, Shohet Uhlani made an impressive spring pitching debut, striking out five batters in 1-2/3 innings in the Angels' 7-3 win against the Oakland Athletics.

The Angels clocked Uhlani's fastball at 100 miles per hour in the Japanese two-way star pitched in a game for the first time since Aug. 2 last year. He threw 24 strikes in his 41-pitch outing, giving up one earned run on three hits and a pair of walks.

In his long-awaited first inning, he struck out three batters as he worked his way around a double and a walk. He also gave up a pair of doubles and one walk in the second, but struck out two batters before exiting.

The 16-year-old's return to the mound continues a strong spring training. It came just two days after he crushed a monster 145-meter home run in a win over the Texas Rangers.

Kito Receives Jukon Decoration

The Consulate General of Japan in Los Angeles held a small ceremony on Feb. 26 to honor Bruce Kito with the Order of the Rising Sun, Gold and Silver Rays. The award was presented by Consul General Akira Murai to Kito, who has been a resident in the U.S. for over 30 years. Kito is a well-known figure in the Japanese community in Los Angeles and has been involved in various community activities. The award is one of the highest honors given by the Japanese government to foreigners.

SCHOOL DAZE: How COVID Impacts Education

How Japan Has Kept Schools Open Amid COVID Fears

This is the first in a series of articles produced in partnership with the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology, and the Japanese Consulate General in Los Angeles. The series will explore how Japan has managed to keep its schools open during the COVID-19 pandemic.

By JOURNALIST NAGATA
 TOKYO, JAPAN

As children in Japan return to school, they may notice their classrooms are different. The principal teacher is the teacher through whom the children receive instruction in each classroom. In the past, the principal teacher was the teacher who was in charge of the classroom. However, in recent years, the principal teacher has been replaced by a teacher who is in charge of the classroom. This change is due to the COVID-19 pandemic, which has led to a reorganization of the classroom structure.

Japan's children wearing masks walk to school. Since the start of the pandemic, government officials in Japan announced that schools would not close, citing the public health benefits of education on the mind and body. However, schools have implemented strict measures to prevent the spread of the virus, including mandatory mask-wearing, handwashing, and social distancing. These measures have allowed schools to remain open, ensuring that children continue to receive their education.

Following a strict three-hour Japan classroom schools are back in session in U.S.

LAPD Asked to Improve Response to Anti-Asian Hate Crimes

Community leaders

Amid increased reports of hate crimes against Asian Americans, community leaders in Los Angeles are asking the LAPD to improve its response to anti-Asian hate crimes. The leaders are concerned that the LAPD's current response is inadequate and that more needs to be done to protect the Asian American community.

Los Angeles County is a population of 10 million Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders. The community is diverse and has made significant contributions to the county. However, it has also faced a recent increase in hate crimes, which is a serious concern for the community.

We have a very large Asian American community here. Unfortunately, we are also seeing a rise in hate crimes against Asian Americans. This is a very serious issue and we need to take action to address it. We are asking the LAPD to improve its response to these crimes and to provide better support to the Asian American community.

The number of hate crimes in Los Angeles has increased in recent years. In 2019, there were 1,100 hate crimes reported, up from 1,000 in 2018. This increase is a concern for the community and we need to take action to address it.

One of the ways to address this issue is by improving the LAPD's response to hate crimes. This includes providing better training to officers, increasing the number of officers who are trained to handle hate crimes, and providing better support to the victims of hate crimes.

Community leaders are asking the LAPD to take these steps and to provide better support to the Asian American community. They are also asking the LAPD to increase its efforts to prevent hate crimes and to provide better support to the victims of hate crimes.

UCLA's Asian American Studies Center Shares State Funding to Address COVID-19

The UCLA Asian American Studies Center has received state funding to address the impact of COVID-19 on the Asian American community.

The funding will be used to support various programs and initiatives that aim to address the needs of the Asian American community during the COVID-19 pandemic. This includes providing financial assistance to students, supporting research on the impact of COVID-19 on the community, and providing support to community organizations.

The UCLA Asian American Studies Center is a leading research and educational institution in the field of Asian American studies. It has a long history of providing support to the Asian American community and has been instrumental in advancing the field of Asian American studies.

The center's research and educational programs have been instrumental in addressing the needs of the Asian American community. The center has a strong commitment to social justice and to providing support to the Asian American community.
